Latin A2 Course 2014-15: Course Description

Course content

The course raises the pupil's linguistic standard to an advanced level. Sophisticated literary criticism and discussion of the historical and social environment of the ancient texts are expected, as is a more or less fluent reading knowledge of the language.

Pupils are taught the OCR Latin A2 syllabus, which includes:

- An ability to translate at sight unadapted extracts from original Roman authors. There is no prescribed vocabulary, but candidates are expected to be familiar with the mainstream vocabulary of the major writers
- Detailed knowledge of all major grammatical forms and syntax
- Optionally, the ability to translate English prose into Latin
- An appreciation of the set texts in the syllabus. For 2015, these are selections from Virgil's Aeneid or Propertius's love poems; and selections from Tacitus's Annals or Sallust's account of the conspiracy of Catiline

No coursework is involved.

The pace is demanding, and full commitment from pupils is essential. Pupils must expect to spend a substantial amount of time outside the classroom developing familiarity with the language.

Pupils are normally required to have achieved a minimum grade B in AS Latin, which counts as 50% of the A2 qualification.

Timetable and venue

Classes are held from 4.45 to 6.15 pm twice a week during school term, generally on Mondays and Wednesdays (days to be confirmed). Pupils are also assigned a minimum of three hours' homework each week.

Classes are held at Westminster School, Dean's Yard, London, SW1P 3PF, by kind permission of the Head Master. Nearest Underground stops are Westminster and St James's Park.

The course is taught under the direction of Mr Gregory Wilsdon, MA (Oxon), MBA, head of classics at Westminster Abbey Choir School and classics teacher at St Paul's Girls' School, and Dr Jonathan Katz, MA (Oxon), PhD, former head of classics at Westminster School.

Fees

Fees are £375 per term, payable in advance each term. Textbooks are supplied on loan at no charge provided they are returned in good condition.

Terms and Conditions applicable to Classics Academy courses

These terms and conditions apply to all contracts between The Classics Academy (“the Academy”) and sponsors of pupils. Where pupils are aged below 18 years, “sponsor” means the pupil’s parent or guardian, if fees are to be paid privately; or the pupil’s school, if fees are to be paid by the school. For pupils over 18, “sponsor” means the pupil himself/herself.

1. The Academy will provide classes as outlined in the course descriptions, with appropriate guidance and advice to pupils. The Academy will make all reasonable efforts to support pupils’ progress, but it is expressly understood that success in any public examination cannot be guaranteed.
2. The Academy reserves the right to vary textbooks, course content and teachers, as well as class days and times, and the number of classes, provided that the advertised syllabus is completed within the originally allotted number of terms.
3. Pupils must attend all classes punctually and consistently, and perform homework conscientiously. Sponsors should contact the Academy in advance if a pupil is expected to be absent from a class or late. Any absence or lateness must be in accordance with the Academy’s policy on attendance.
4. A high standard of behaviour is expected from all pupils. Pupils must not engage in behaviour that is anti-social, illegal or academically dishonest, or which interferes with other pupils’ studies.
5. All applications to enrol in courses are accepted or rejected at the absolute discretion of the Academy. The Academy may discuss the applications and progress of pupils who are still at school or under 18 with their school teachers and with their parents or guardians.
6. The Academy may require a pupil to withdraw from a course if it considers, for academic or other reasons, that it would not be in the pupil’s best interests to continue.
7. If the number of pupils enrolling for any term of any course is deemed insufficient by the Academy, the Academy may cancel the course. In these circumstances, any fees paid for cancelled lessons will be refunded in full.
8. Sponsors may withdraw a pupil from a course up to two weeks before the beginning of each term, in which case any fees paid in advance for the term (less any non-returnable deposit) will be refunded. After this deadline, fees for that term are not refundable if pupils are withdrawn by sponsors, nor if they miss classes for any reason.
9. Fees are set at the beginning of each academic year, and are fixed amounts irrespective of the number of classes held. Refunds are not made for lessons that are cancelled or which pupils are unable to attend. Fees will not increase during the year. Sponsors will pay fees and any other charges in advance at the beginning of each term.

10. Prescribed textbooks will be issued on loan to pupils without charge. If a book is lost or damaged while on loan to a pupil, the cost of a new replacement will be charged to the pupil's sponsor. Pupils are responsible for supplying their own stationery.
11. The Academy will take reasonable steps to protect the health and safety of its pupils during class time. Pupils are also required to take reasonable steps to protect their health and safety and the health and safety of others. The Academy cannot accept responsibility for pupils during travel to or from classes, or when outside the classroom.
12. Breach of these terms and conditions may lead to a pupil being suspended or required to leave the course permanently. Refunds of fees in these circumstances will not be made.
13. These terms and conditions may be varied by the Academy at its discretion, provided that written notice is sent to sponsors at least 14 days in advance.
